Dear Director Gupta:

Committee Republicans are continuing to investigate how Biden Administration policies have created the worst border crisis in American history. Recent years have seen record-shattering border trafficking of deadly narcotics like fentanyl and unprecedented levels of fentanyl-related deaths in the U.S. ONDCP's response to our previous letter on January 11, 2022, was only partially responsive to the questions we asked. As we look to the 118th Congress, Committee Republicans intend to continue prioritizing this investigation. It is important that the American people, and their elected lawmakers, understand the role Biden Administration policies have played in fueling the border and fentanyl crises, and what the Administration's plan is, if any, to reverse course and resolve the situation. We therefore reiterate our previous requests for information and additionally request supporting documentation.

On January 11, 2022, we requested information from ONDCP regarding the Biden Administration's policies that have exacerbated the fentanyl crisis.<sup>1</sup> ONDCP provided an incomplete narrative response. Committee Republicans refuse to allow the Biden Administration's lack of border enforcement and the ensuing drug cartels to destroy the lives of hundreds of Americans. Americans have a right to know whether their taxpayer dollars are supporting strong drug interdiction policies and programs that effectively work to prevent drug abuse and deaths in the U.S. The U.S. had made some gains in the opioid crisis, but it appears those have been diminished or wiped out by the fentanyl trafficking. Each day there is a new headline about skyrocketing supply, rainbow fentanyl, and overdose deaths increasing dramatically. The increase in trafficking is a direct result of President Biden's open border policies and the American people deserve transparency and accountability.

ONDCP possesses information critical to this investigation. We look forward to working with your office to deliver the information we requested in our prior letter. Please provide the documents and information requested, and prioritize the following requests for production,
